The difficulty of same testimate arises from the fact that the movement is not organized from the center. Forces have sprung up spontaneously in every parish, and so far are only lossely connected with the content of in every parish, and so far are only loosely connected with the provisional central body. There has been a complete wiping out of all class distinctions and the rank and file include every grade—farmers, laborers, shop assistants, clerks, dectors, lawyers, and country gentlemen. There is a very strong leaven of time-expired soldiers—old Connaught. Rangers, Dublin Fusiliers and Munster Fusiliers, and their experience is proving useful in the drill.

The chief military commanders are Col. Maurice Moore, who dominated the Connarght Rangers in the Boer War, and Capt, White, a son of the Gen. White, who defended Lladysmith. Gen.
